OTHER PLUMS ABOUT TO FALL,

Secretary of State Blaine Described as a Badly Broken Down Man.

A FUTURE FOR FLAX IN THIS COUNTRY

SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, May 12 .- It is said in administration circles that a large batch of consuls will almost certainly be appointed this week, and that supplemented, probably, by a considerable number of Presidental postmasters, among which it is just possible the name of some gentleman for Pittaburg will appear.

Persons who know something of the impression on Secretary Blaine made by Mr. James V. Long, and his remarkable array of solid indorsements, say that among the Allegheny county appointments to positions in the Consular service will almost certainly be that of Mr. Long. Mr. Long is said at the State Department to be particularly pressed by Senator Cameron and Mr. C. L. Magee. The relations of Mr. Blaine and Mr. Cameron have been particularly friendly, for some reason, since the Secretary's return to public life, and everybody knows of the warmth and sincerity of Mr. Blaine's friendship for Mr. Magee. It is said at the State Department that previous to his de-parture for Europe the Senator made a spe-cial and personal plea for the appointment of Mr. Long, and that Mr. Magee's support has been even more earnest. It is for these reasons that persons pear Mr. Blaine believe the Secretary will not pass by Mr. Long's application for the Florence Consulate.

The resignation of Judge Jenks, the Solicitor General, was accepted, to take effect on the 15th, next Wednesday. It is therefore expected that a new incumbent for this important office, which has been filled with acknowledged ability by Judge Jenks, will be appointed this week, but it has not leaked out who the President has in his mind. It appears for some reason to be a general opinion, however, that Pennsylvania will not again secure the honor, and there is an impression that Attorney General Miller has a personal friend whom he would like to see in that position. It is stated upon authority that Judge Jenks will be retained as counsel for the case of the Gov-ernment against the Beil Telephone mono-

LET US GROW FLAX.

A Communication From Ireland to the Agricultural Department - A Source of Wealth for American Farmers

-The Value of the Crop. WASHINGTON, May 12.-Last week Prof. Willetts, the Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, had under consideration a letter from Ireland, which he thinks may offer a solution of the economic problem: What shall take the place of wheat on farms where it can no longer be raised at a profit? The writer, who has been familiar with flax growing and linen manufacturing since 1840, says in his interesting communication:

There are only two establishments weavingone at Webster, Mass., and the other at Appleone at weiner, mane, and the other at Apparon. Wis.—the latter doing but little weaving and neither weaving anything fiber than crash. There is nothing in the climate or soil conflicting with the assertion that just as good flax and linen may be produced in every State in the American Union as in any country. Germany now spins and weaves the finest linen, and she has no essentially differing climate from America.

and she has no essentially differing climate from America.

Many things become successful in America from the facility with which the people take up and adopt improved processes and appliances, and this may be the salvation of the linen indesting of the importance of which there is no question. There is every reason why the American farmers should produce 1,000,000 acres of flax for both seed and fiber over and above what is now produced, which would give 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels of seed, worth as many millions of dollars, and 2,500,000 tons of flax straw worth $50,000,000, and from which $60,000 tons of flax fiber would be obtained, worth $100,000,000. Once established, American invention would, as in all other industries, soon build up an industry to consume this raw build up an industry to consume this ray

I wish the State experimental farms to grow as small amount in each State and such private as small amount in each State and such private farmers as are disposed to do the same. The fax should be sown upon any good mellow soil which has been well manured the past year, or active chemical fertilizers may be employed on areas to a reasonable extent. The seed should be sown at the rate of 2½ bushels on an acre of land, brushed in, and no further attention is needed excepting that any large weeds may be removed until the flax has "turned" for half its length, when it should be pulled, cured and cared for to keep ft bright in the same manner as is done with hay.

The seed may be taken off by rippling or by roller threshing, and there will be a market for

The seed may be come of the a market for all flax straw thus grown at $20 per ton. The crop should give 2½ tons of straw to an acre and 12 to 15 bushels of seed. The cost of pullne is in Canada $5 an acre.

Prof. Willetts has informed the sender that the subject of his letter would be earnestly considered by the department, which would lend its aid to any effort to inerease or diversify the agricultural indus-

BLAINE ABOUT BROKEN DOWN.

The Secretary of State No More the Vigorous Man of a Year Ago. WASHINGTON, May 11 .- Mr. Blaine, if not absolutely broken down, is very badly shaken. He is not at all the man he was three months ago when he walked into the State Department. He walked like an Apollo then. His face was remarkably, almost unnaturally, white, and his hair was very white, too, but his eye was steady and full of fire, his body erect, his head high and haughty, and his step firm. Now all is changed—all save the pallor of his check, which has grown deeper, and the whiteness of his hair To one who saw him in his pride as he marched like a conquering hero into the room of the Secretary of State on March 6, and who sees him now painfully making his way across the lobby in the State Department, or reclining in his carriage as he is being driven from his office to his hotel, 500 or 600 yards distant, the contrast is striking and melancholy.

After dinner last evening he and Mrs.
Blaine got into their carriage and drove down to Lafayette square to view the improvements now being put on the house they are to occupy. When the carriage came to a standstill before the building Mrs.
Blaine had to rise own the down and or Blaine had to rise, open the door and get out first. Then the Secretary slowly and painfully hoisted himself up, and it took apparently all the help his arms could give him to enable his legs to get him on his feet. Yesterday he was too ill to accompany the President down the Potomac.

Part of the payments will be in stock of the new company, but there will be large cash payments. An Ex-Convict Arrested on a Charge Trying to Derail the Limited Vestibule Train-The Prisoner's Bad Record.

INFECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. CANTON, O., May 12.—Detective Morris, of Pinkerton's Chicago office, to-day arrested here Tem Sadler, an ex-convict, charged with attempting to wreck the limited vestibule New York-Chicago express on the Pitts burg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad. Two attempts were made to wreck the train near here a few nights apart about a month ago. Ralis and ties were stanpped on the track, but luckily the obstructions were discovered by farmers living near and removed before the train arrived. In the one instance it was necessary to flag the train.

Sadier formerly worked as a section hand on the road. He was paroled from the Ohio Penitentiary, where he was sent in 1831 for complicity in the murder of John Torney, for which Michael Caliahan was hung.

been engaged here erecting an elegant passenger station, building massive retaining walls and making other improvements aggregating $100,000, all of which are nearly completed.

Homer Baldwin, a wealthy miller, some time ago secured an injunction restraining the company from building an additional track to its passenger station, claiming the land belonged to him. The injunction expired by limitation yesterday, and at 4 o'clock this morning the company had 500 men on a construction train loaded with ties and steel rails backed along side the disputed right of way, and in less than an hour laid and ballasted 1,500 feet of track, connecting with their passenger station, and placed a train of cars on it. This morning Judge Johnston issued an injunction on application of Mr. Baldwin, but the company is in possession, and the courts will decide as to what are his rights in the premises.

HORRIBLE FOREBODINGS Of Impending Danger—An Unpare alleled Statement of Facts-Dr. Smith, at No. 502 Penn Ave., COMES TO THE RESCUE

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

A LIFE OF FEAR.

No human being is exempt from disease. The most powerful and apparently healthy have no guarantee that their strength will not be taken from them abd their bodies wasted by some loathsome disease. Few who are in health consider their liability to disease or pay attention to the fills of their suffering fellow creatures. The following very interesting case is that of a woman whose magnificent physique could apparently defy the rawages of disease and pain, and whose muscles seemed secure from the fills which weaker women are heir to, yet sile for three long years was a terrible sufferer and was in a most pitisble condition imaginable, when she applied to Dr. Smith. The case in question was that of Mrs. L. H. Auberry, who resides at Mercer, Pa. Mrs. A. had been afflicted with hemorrhoids for a number of years without paying very much attention to them. But as the years went by the disease began to grow upon her. File-tumors began to increase in size, and when prolapsed would bleed profusely. The pain and suffering which she experienced from them, together with the loss of blood, from repeated hemorrhages gradually undermined her nervous system until she became a physical wreck. She became weak and languid. The least physical exertion caused great fatigue. She lived in constant fear that something dreadful was about to happen. She suffered from melancholy, and feit that she would never get well. A feeling would come over her that she was alone in the world, and was constantly looking on the dark side of life. She had tried the shill of so many physicians without finding relief that she had given up all hopes of ever being restored to health.
